

COLLAPSING OPPOSITES

Collapsing Opposites is an indie/art/rock/weirdo/pop band from Vancouver, BC. Since outgrowing its humble origins as a solo project by Ryan McCormick, the group now includes permanent band members Laura Hatfield (drums), Jarrett Evan Samson (bass) and Jessica Wilkin (keyboard). Having never really achieved any level of fame or commercial success despite countless tours and a consistent output of recordings since 2002, the band finds their relative obscurity liberating: while the world goes crazy about their friends in the Vancouver beard-rock, noise-punk and indie-pop scenes, members of Collapsing Opposites are free to explore the artistic side of their work, releasing music how and when they want, collaborating with whomever they please and touring to whatever obscure and commercially-pointless locations their hearts desire.

In Time may be the fourth full-length Collapsing Opposites album, but it's the first that was recorded entirely as a band, with full instrumentation on every track. While the songwriting follows the same trajectory as set out in the past, listeners who are familiar with previous CO recordings may find In Time to be a bit of a departure. It's easily the most well-rounded and fully-developed Collapsing Opposites record to date, sounding "alien but not alienating, quirky but not annoying, [and] dark but not desperate" (Weird Canada) with songs that "move from charming and childlike into a void of a cyclical, manic and detail-obsessed narrator" (Beatroute). As its title suggests, In Time explores themes of growth, change, patience and decay.

The album was released independently in early 2010 on twelve-inch black vinyl with an MP3 download coupon included, and features expansive full color artwork done by the band. It was recorded by Mike Gittens (Plus Perfect) at The Hive (Black Mountain, Destroyer) and features guest appearances by Anju Singh (Ahna), Chris Alscher (Chris-a-riffic/Bible Belts) and Ruth Allison Dana.

"One of the great unheralded private-press oddities of 2010" – Weird Canada

"Refreshingly unpretentious" – Discorder
